

COLONEL LANGHORNE CREATES TRUST FUND

Each of His Children Will Share Alike in the Large Estate.

VALUE PUT AT $1,132,175

Beneficiaries Include Mrs. William Waldorf Astor, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Mrs. Harry Phipps and Mrs. Phyllis Brooks.

(Special to The Times-Di-patch) — CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., November 20.—A trust fund of his large estate for the benefit of his children has been created by Colonel J. D. Langhorne, of Greenwood, Albemarle County. Each of the children is to share alike. Colonel Langhorne is the father of the famous Langhorne sisters, Mrs. William Waldorf Astor of England, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson of New York, Mrs. Harry Phipps of Boston, and Mrs. Phyllis Brooks, now at her father's home.

The deed of conveyance in trust is to E. K. Langhorne, of Buckingham County, Va., the old Dominion Trust Company of Richmond, the legal trustee. It is dated August 21, 1916, and reads property, railroad and other stocks and bonds and other assets valued at $1,132,175 are listed.

The property conveyed comprises the following pieces of real estate: a lot of land in Buckingham at the junction of the Mountain Avenue and Allen Avenue; a tract of land in the vicinity of Greenwood, of 446 acres, and the place known as "Misfit," in Albemarle County, containing 111½ acres, now occupied by Colonel Langhorne as a home. There follows a schedule of bonds and stocks of a number of railroads and other bonds, and also first-mortgage real estate notes to a large amount.

INCOME OF $40,000 TO

COLONEL J. D. LANGHORNE

At the death of Colonel Langhorne, the property is to be devoted to trusts which are specified in detail. The sum of $40,000 is to be set aside and the income from it turned over to Genevieve Peyton Langhorne, the widow of Harry Langhorne, to the extent of an annuity of $1,200 during her life. At her death the amount shall be returned to the estate and disposed of in the same manner as the other portions. The remainder of the whole estate is to be held in trust and the proceeds thus divided.

Income of one-seventh to the following named persons during their natural life, and after the death of either to the person next in age until the youngest child attain the age of twenty-one years: Irene Gibson, daughter of the grand, Nancy Astor, a daughter; Phyllis Brooks, also a daughter; Nora Phipps, a daughter; W. Henry Langhorne, his son; Elsie Kean Langhorne, his son; and one-seventeen part equally to C. D. L. Perkins, Nancy L. Perkins and Alice M. Perkins, children of Elizabeth D. Perkins, deceased; also Colonel Langhorne's daughter.

Youth Charged With Being Implicated
in Murder Will Face Jury at Abingdon.

(Special to The Times-Di-patch) — BRISTOL, VA., November 20.—Battling for nearly two years to be freed from the charge of having been implicated with his older brother, Luther, in the murder and assault of Mrs. Claude Wilson, young wife of James B. Wilson, a farmer near Wallace, Va., James Canter, 21, of Abingdon, will face a jury in the Circuit Court at Abingdon for the third time next week. He once was sentenced to prison, but the Virginia Supreme Court reversed the lower court and remanded the case for a new trial. The jury was unable to agree at the second hearing.

Judge N. P. Oglesby, who has defended young Canter from the outset, will be his counsel at the trial next week. The Commonwealth will prosecute by Commonwealth Attorney Robert J. Summers, who probably will be assisted by Judge F. B. Hutton.
